SIGNS OF TROUBLE - When Harry Kahn put up a sign "Lowest Prices in Town" over his Detroit clothing store, William Broad, his next-door competitor, saw a golden opportunity. Broad put up a sign, in the same red lettering, that read: "At Wm. Broad's." To all practical purposes, that made his and Kahn's advertisements all one big sign-with Broad's business getting a big boost at half cost. In the rhubarb that followed, both men wound up in the prosecutor's office. Law officials could find nothing wrong with either half of the sign, but a surveyor's measurements showed that Broad's "A" encroached on Kahn's half of the building. MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich .-(A)-A 48-member Japanese delegation arrived here today to participate in the continuing World Assembly for Moral Rearmament.

The Japanese delegation joins representatives from nations throughout the world here for the 13-day conference which ends June 10.

Eleanor Butler, a former Irish senator who represented her country on many occasions at international conferences, yesterday told the assembly that moral rearmament offered a superior idea to Communism in crisis points around the world.

"Techniques of compromise," she said, "are no longer any good against a powerful ideology as Communism. The only answer is a superior idea strong enough to change and inspire both Communists and non-Communists.

Women's Draft Law Predicted

By RUTH COWAN WASHINGTON -(P) — The

drive for women volunteers for the armed forces is a failure so Does this foreshadow eventual registration and draft of women? Already a leading nationwide women's organization, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, is facing up to that question. Scheduled for consideration at the federation's convention in Boston in July is a move to recommend amendment of the selective service act to make unmarried women between the ages of 18 and 26 liable for training and service. This proposal already has the approval of the federation's board of directors.

Last October the defense department announced it wanted some 72,000 volunteers to bring the number of women in uniform up to 112,000 by June 30.

With but 30 days to go the total recruitment is an estimated 12,500-or less than one fifth of the goal.

New Bill Curbs Seizure Powers

WASHINGTON - (AP) -Senate judiciary committee has unanimously approved a proposed constitutional amendment which would forbid a President to seize private property except under specific laws passed by Congress.

The proposal, by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), was approved yesterday. It is an outgrowth of Congressional uproar over President Truman's seizure of the steel industry to head off a strike.

McCarran said it would end any argument over presidential seizure powers. President Truman contends he has such authority to act in an emergency for the nation's welfare. But he said he would abide by the supreme court decision in the steel-seizure dis-

High School Commencement Opens fauver. New Challenge To Youngsters

FOR the past several days and certainly draft call is a vexing problem for most young men. papers of the nation, the Escanaba Daily Press included, have published and will publish numerous stories of high school commencement exercises.

Throughout the nation, hundreds of thousands of high school youngsters are receiving their diplomas. For many of these youngsters, the high school diplomas mark the end of their formal education and the beginning of their work careers. For many others-and this number is steadily increasing-the reception of the high school diplomas point to the start of a new experience in education, the college training where the young men and women will specialize in educational pursuits leading to careers in the professions, in business and

Complicating the problem of decision for most of the young men graduating from the nation's high schools this year is the factor of required military service. Whether to enlist now and put in the time in military or naval training that is required or whether to go to school and await the

Smear Campaign Lacks Decency

THE "smear" as a tactic is as old as politics. But the last two decades have seen it elevated to vastly greater importance in political propaganda. Today we must sadly acknowledge that many men of professed decency nevertheless either employ or condone the most virulent attacks upon other men.

That the users of the smear include so many who think of themselves as decent is a mark of what has happened to our moral standards. It has become quite commonplace for political candidates to close their eyes to the presence within their camps of the very lowest order of hate-

A lot of these candidates offer themselves as shining white knights ready to do battle with the terrible enemy, communism. They apparently do not realize they are giving strength to a doctrine which is part of the very essence of communism. They are acting as if they believe the end justifies the means. In other words, in their often totally sincere conviction that the opposition is bad and must be routed, they allow themselves to be persuaded that any technique which does the job is in the interest of the Amer-

Perhaps such tactics will work for a about who the enemy is and where he is. Perhaps the stirring of religious and racial hatreds will be looked upon briefly without great indignation. But sooner or later the elemental sense of decency of the American citizen will revoit against the injection of such poisons into the political bloodstream. Sooner or later the men who practice or condone the "smear" on a grand scale will be thrown out of office. One of the most dismal of modern experiences is to liseten to a smear arust defending himself against charges he knows he cannot refute. He wraps himself in a cloak of righteousness, and declares that HE is the victim of a smear. Recognize the technique? It's straight out of Moscow.

The boys at the store decided it must be a little discouraging to Senator Kefauver being the first European to sight the to see how unpopular investigators are in waters of the Pacific Ocean, which he his party. He undoubtedly knows where a called "the South Sea." lot of corruption bodies are buried. As a candidate for the Presidential nomination. that may not be exactly as asset with the Pioneer Mother" professional politicians.

The military services offer educational opportunities too, particularly in such a large part of the American public doesn't trades as welding, electronics, mechanics, care whether the present leaders are "inphotography, flying, cooking and baking and many other fields of endeavor.

The need for education beyond the high school level is growing more acute every year. Specialization is increasing in this complex world. As science unlocks more secrets and as new machines and new techniques are produced, young men and young women seeking jobs in business and industry must possess greater knowledge to keep pace in the labor market.

Free public education ends with high school graduation, but it will not always be so. The necessity for more knowledge steadily grows and ultimately this necessity will be reflected in free public education beyond the present high school level. It is inevitable because it is essential.

Our standards of living have increased in proportion to the increased general knowledge of our people. Great standards of living will be realized only when we learn more ways to do things cheaper, faster and better so that more of the people can enjoy the benefits of increased knowldge. Increased knowledge, of course, requires increased education.

NOT FOR WEAKLINGS (Duluth News Tribune)

President Truman will soon send to Congress proposals for a huge enlargement of our atomic weapon output. In five years this increased effort is expected to cost somewhere between 5 and 6 billion dollars. It is not pessimism but experience which leads any citizen to guess, right now, that the final cost will be closer to 6 billions than to 5, and more likely to exceed the upper limit than to fall short of the lower. Five or six billion dollars was enough to pay all costs of the federal government for a year, not so awfully long ago. Even in fiscal 1938 the total of federal expenditures was less than 7 billion dollars.

We must trust those administering the program, and we must trust those they choose for the work. We must trust them to make the dollars count, and not to be dazzled by the number available, or by the secrecy, or by the need for haste. Administering such heavy spending would be a grave responsibility, even under normal conditions. With so little help in the way of public audit and argument, criticism and defense the burden is almost without an equal. This change is an additional reason why we need high character in high office more than ever before.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON WASHINGTON - The publishers of

Frontier magazine, Cifford Phillips and Ludlow Flower, who are old Denver friends of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, dropped in on him the other day, began to talk about politics. They were for Kefauver, found him bitter against Ke-

"When Kefauver remained in the New Hampshire primary against the President, it was an insult," remarked the secretary of agriculture with heat.

What Brannan and various top politicos of both parties don't seem to realize is that sulted" or not. They are rebellious toward those in power, no matter what the party, and definitely in a nose-thumbing mood.

This applies not only to those in Washington, but to party bosses in states and cities. It applied to Democratic leaders who were ousted in the New Hampshire primary and to Republican bosses who were ousted last November after their 70-year rule over Philadelphia.

This resentment against party bosses accounts for much of the popular sentiment for Eisenhower and Kefauver. It's a new political ferment, a healthy desire on the part of a lot of people not hitherto in politics, to get into politics. Not only are they determined to get out and vote, but they're determined that there shall be no smokefilled-room nominations at either conven-

The bosses may not like this, but it's a fact. And here are some of the battles stirred up by this new political ferment, showing it's a fact.

EISENHOWER AND THE SOUTH

While the bald-faced freeze-out of Eisenhower delegates in Texas has attracted most of the headlines, there have been just as brazen freeze-outs in other states. In Charleston, S. C., Hump Keating and Elizabeth Curry, two old guard Republicans, saw they were outnumbered by Eisenhower supporters at a meeting called at the Murray Vocational School, so they jumped into Keating's car, held their own meeting, and re-elected themselves to represent the precinct at the state convention.

At West Baton Rouge, La., Robert Butler, precinct chairman, found himself the only Taft man, among a crowd of Eisenhower supporters. So he called the meeting to order, nominated himself a delegate, seconded the nomination, closed the meeting, waved good-bye to other Republicans, and walked out.

At New Orleans, Taft supporters, finding themselves outnumbered, held a private meeting on the sidewalk and elected their own delegates.

Ike's Homecoming Will Be More Than Hero's Welcome At Abilene

By HOWARD SPARKS NEA Special Correspondent

ABILENE, Kans. - (NEA) -When Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower comes home to Abilene for his Big Day on June 4, it will be more than a hero's home-coming. It will mark his passage out of the ordered military world into the turmoil of politics.

He will have a little time of grace while this prairie town of 5000-scrubbed and painted and bedecked as never in its life, and n by 100,000 visitors-d him heartfelt honor. That afternoon, at the stadium in Eisenhower park, the general will deliver an address for a nonpartisan celebration, his first public speech since relinquishing his SHAPE command. But every sentence he utters on domestic and foreign affairs will be examined for political significance.

Yet that will not be Eisenhower's real baptism of political fire. His true initiation will come on the morning of June 5, when over the land. For then he will face probably the heaviest barrage of politically - barbed questions that ever hit a presidential

THE FLYING SAUCER-S. J. Harris, editor of the Door County Advocate, Sturgeon Bay, would like to know if anyone in the Delta county area saw a flying saucer the evening of May 21. The "saucer" passed over Sturgeon Bay it himself. No second-hand reports. "It looked like a circle of light, and inside was another circle of light with a hollow center. The whole thing seemed to be revolving at a terrific rate while hovering in the sky," Editor Harris re-

It moved swiftly, but not so fast that it could not be observed by a number of people in the Sturgeon Bay area.

It was sighted by persons living in Sturgeon Bay, Fish Creek and Bailey's Harbor. Some of the observors estimated the object to be 25 miles high-which is way up in anybody's world.

PLEASE REPORT - There is only one way to determine if the object was a flying saucer or a distant planet or a weather? balloon-or something. That way is for someone to bring it down and cut out a laboratory for analysis.

If in the sampling process the object says "Ouch!" it can be assumed the saucer is composed of living matter, whirling giddily in space to escape being nominated for public office.

Harris' report scouts the idea of planetary phenomena.

"By this time the thing was getting quite low over the Gamble store (in Sturgeon Bay), looking more and more like a big star, although it was still not dark enough for the stars to be out."

In conclusion, we request readers who saw something unusual in the sky the evening of May 21 to write to Editor Harris and tell him the story. He is being carried away by curiosity about a flying

Power With Words By Dr. C. E. Funk

WORDS EXPRESSING STRONG DISLIKE

Hate, detest, despise, loathe are all such is not the case. One may loathe something, for example, toward which he feels no hatred. "Hate" is the strongest. In its fullest sense it implies such intense dislike that one is disposed to injure or destroy the object of hatred. One "hates" an enemy, or an evil, such as drug addiction, that he would like to destroy. Some persons "hate" snakes or spiders, when they have a desire to kill them on sight. But the power of this word is lost when used with no stronger feeling than dislike, as,

"I hate to hurt her feelings," or "I hate

bananas."

"Detest," of Latin origin, carries as great a degree of intense dislike as English "hate," but the desire to injure its object is less strong, scarcely more than to wish misfortune upon it. Its Latin source, "detester," meant to denounce, to call upon the gods to bring evil upon the crusher on the pistol fighters then whose weathered boards haven't Robert Vogeler, who was held in object. High Tax Leads To Bootlegging

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK - Personally, I never touch the stuff, because melted gold is cheaper this day, and besides it makes you feel so bad to feel so bad as a result of having spent so much. Like somebody said, you get sick and tired of getting up sick and tired and busted, to boot.

I am referring to a plaintive bulletin from the government, which says that the increased taxes on happy-juice has cut the revenue from liquor sales instead of increasing it. The government figured that when they drove up the tax on spirits to $10.15 a gallon, consumption would drop, but the added revenue would make up for the percapita reduction in tippling.

It hasn't. Indications from the Bureau of Internal Revenue are that they are going to be about $150 million short of their estimated income, and 150 million bucks buys a lot of beer. Beer is what it's bought, too-beer, wine, canned heat, and bootleg whiskey, instead of governmentally sanctioned grog.

Bootlegging Increases

The current report, semi-official is that bootlegging is bigger and better business today than it was when every backyard housed a still and the Feds were shooting up innocent bystanders and blindness accompanied every third bottoms-up. Fine, I say, just fine. Look at it and laugh, suckers, at what happens when the governmental penchant for foundering the free horse reaches infinity.

Some months back, when the new tilt on whisky went into effect, we wrote a bitter little piece about putting yourself out of business if you carry the tax on luxuries too far. It seemed to me to keynote the whole wrong with the way we run our show out of Washington. Keep on penalizing it, no matter what it is, and people will eventually either stop using it, or they will find a substitute for it, or a way to duck it.

We have adopted an arbitrary approach to frivolities, which is

I argue back that the frivolities are in many ways the real necessities of sweating your way through this misdirected rat maze of bureaucratic strife, and that it. Smoking must be important, or there are times when a slug of so many people wouldn't smoke. A

Network Highlights

NEW YORK—(A)—Most folks who tune in the radio networks may never have heard of Eddie Gallaher but it won't be long before they will.

Gallaher is the man about programs of Washington's WTOP, who took over Arthur Godfrey's former assignment. Arthur Godfrey's former assignment there when Arthur branched out from early morning broadcasting into full-fledged network talent. Now like Godfrey, Eddie is transferring to a net-work status, at least for five summer weeks.

Gallaher will be host of the New CBS experiment in Sunday afternoon broadcasting, the 2½-hour program of music, news, traffic and other information which starts June 15. It is designed as a "live" counterpart of the early morning disc jockey performance.

going with a married woman with 3 children for the past 8 years. Lately I got after her and threatened to have her arrested if she did not stop seeing my husband: But she got a step ahead of me and had him arrested for molesting her. It made my husband very mad to be made a fool of by the woman he loved. Now he is not seeing her but I can't trust him. Should I give him up or just wait around to see what he will do? He has no love for me and our children. I am 34 and my husband is 35. Don't you think I am too young to stay with a husband who has no love for me?" (A) You are too young to have

Summer Band Starts June 16

The summer band program at Manistique high school, which will include beginning classes for boys and girls, will open Monday, June 16, it is announced by Joseph Giovannini, band director.

Giovannini will be in the high school east room every day at 9 a. m. beginning June 16. He invites all young persons interested in band to call on him there, accompanied by one of their parents. If a visit cannot be made he requests that he be contacted by telephone at numbers 105 or 140-J. In announcing the summer program, Giovannini said:

"The need for young people to play instruments is constantly growing. The demands on our young musiciians are greater every year and the needs of the band are ever present. It is necessary that as many youngsters as possible and senior band are never equalled. All youngsters from the fifth and sixth grade up should be encour- Bradley Photo) aged to take part in music."

Band instruments are available on several plans, Giovannini point- Mother-Dauchter ed out. They may be rented, purchased on an easy payment plan after the rental period is over, or purchased outtright. "We want no For Brownie Unit one missing an opporttunity to play because they feel they cannit afford an instrument", he said.

Seventeen students are graduaating this year from the senior band, and replacements for them must come from the junior band, Giovannini stated. "We have never yet had a junior band large enough to guarantee the necessary replacements when they are needed", he said, "but I am hopeful that we can eventually build our junior band to about 40 pieces and then add a grade school band which will furnish us material from the grades as it is needed.'

Parents are urged to remember the date, time and place of inital registration. For parents who are during the summer, the band director will be available for consultation at any time until the first of August. Students may start at any time during this period.

Banner Year

According to advance estimates, 1952 will be a banner resort year in the Upper Peninsula.

In the Manistique area alone, it is estimated, the resort business brings in a million and half in new dollars every season.

The resort business is an important factor in our community's welfare, providing additional income for hundreds of our citizens directly and indirectly. Let us, therefore, treat our summer visitors as our guests, according them every consideration and courtesy.

In fact, let us be especially nice to every enterprise that benefits and builds up Manistique and Schoolcraft County. This applies in particular to our industries which are, by far, the most important cornerstone of our community livelihood.

George Mathison, former Gladstone resident now employed in Milwaukee, tells us of the "slow pitch" softball which is quite popular in that city The game varies quite a bit from softball, with rules briefly as follows: The pitcher must toss the ball to the plate in an arc The batter gets one swinging strike or two called strikes He is out if he either misses a swing or hits a foul ball ... Three balls earn a walk . Once on base a player cannot steal, advancing only after another batter hits the ball ... George says he still prefers reg-

The Green Bay Packers will celebrate a couple of "firsts" in their home schedule next Fall ... The Cleveland Browns will make their first invasion of City Stadium in Green Bay on Aug. 23 for a non-championship game. The two teams played only one previous game, a pre-season affair in Toledo in 1950 The other first is the Packers' National Football League battle with the Dallas Texans on Nov. 23 ... A team from Texas never played in Green Bay's stadium before, but the Texas stars won't be strangers because most of them played under the New York banner in 1950 and 1951.

ARRIVES SUNDAY

PARIS-(A)- Gen. Eisenhower took off for the United States and a possible political future today after nearly a year and a half as the western world's top soldier in Europe. His plane left the orly field runway at 2:04 p. m. (8:04) a. m., EST).

In a brief farewell address at the airport, the general declared: "Mrs. Eisenhower and I are leaving this wonderful country and hospitable people not only In Plowed Soil, with a feeling of regret and gratitude but with a feeling of confidence that the glory of France is again on the rise."

He is to land tonight at Stephenville. Newfoundland, at 9:30 and is due in Washington at 3 p. m., EST tomorrow.
